

About

At the double... F37 Wyman celebrates lettering by Lance Wyman, originally designed for America's 200th birthday.

F37 Wyman is based on extraordinary lettering work created by celebrated US graphic designer Lance Wyman in 1976. It was commissioned as part of the graphic identity marking 200 years of American Independence. Wyman completed his eye-watering designs in 1970 while working in Mexico, where he'd temporarily relocated after designing his outstanding graphics for the Mexico 68 Olympics.

Working with Lance Wyman directly, we've digitalised his modernist lettering into a working font. Each letter is designed on a grid and uses OpenType to snap each letter into place, creating an even bolder optical illusion. F37 Wyman is perfect for posters, logos or headlines that need to really stand out from the crowd.
